Report: Update

Target Price: RM 1.10 (+15%)

Current Price: RM 0.955

Fund description and objective:

EQ8WAQF is designed for investors seeking exposure in liquid financial instrument with an index-tracking feature that focuses on high yield dividend Shariah-compliant equities. The fund is passively managed and aims to closely align with the performance of the Benchmark with comply to Shariah requirements, to generate a portion of the income distribution of the Fund for waqf purposes which combines an income-focused strategy with a momentum-based approach. EQ8WAQF commits to annual income distribution, allocating 50% to Waqf assets for socio-economic projects like education, healthcare, and sustainability, while the other half is distributed to unitholders. This approach offers financial returns alongside meaningful societal impact, aligning with the growing demand for ESG and ethical investing.

Outlook

The market remains volatile amid economic and policy uncertainties, impacting overall business performance. In light of this, we maintain our strategy of focusing on defensive stocks to generate stable returns. EQ8WAQF is an optimal choice for risk-averse investors seeking resilience in uncertain times. While EQ8WAQF has recorded a year-to-date (YTD) loss of 4%, largely due to prevailing market challenges, it has outperformed its benchmark (FBEMSTDP) by 9.4%-points, the FBM100 Index (1.8%-points) and the FBMS Index (4.5%-points) by delivering a narrower loss return. The decline was due to the foreign investment outflow, uncertainty in US trade policy and AI diffusion ruling, leading to heavy profit-taking and market downturns. This demonstrates the ETF's ability to weather market downturns more effectively than its peers. A key strength of EQ8WAQF lies in its consistent dividend payouts, offering investors a degree of financial security amid market turbulence. EQ8WAQF's portfolio is strategically weighted towards the technology (19%), non-bank financial (10%), and plantation (9%) sectors. Notably, the plantation sector is currently overweight across analyst recommendations, driven by improved CPO prices amid low inventory levels. Plantation companies within EQ8WAQF offer dividend yields ranging from 3%-8%, further reinforcing the ETF's stability. EQ8WAQF has lesser volatility with a well-balanced mix of high dividend yield stocks to navigate challenging market conditions.

Recommendation

We reiterate BUY call on EQ8WAQF with a 12-month target NAV of RM1.10 based on our fair value estimate and supported by consensus target prices estimates from Bloomberg. This is justified given that EQ8WAQF continue to performance better than the benchmark and indexes amid market downturns. EQ8WAQF will payout good dividend despite volatile business conditions.
